MARKET OVERVIEW

Pre Open Thoughts: Confidence returns cautiously

I was always looking outside myself for strength and confidence, but it comes from within. It is there all the time. The market saw some confidence after the India Meteorological Department's projection of above normal rains this year which lead to hopes that food inflation will fall.

After two years of deficient rainfall as is a ritual every year, a lot of hopes are yet again pinned on the resumption of a normal monsoon in 2016, On Back of which Indian Indices in last session there was seen a sudden bout of buying witnessed in the last hour of trade saw the indices closing in positive terrain.

From our derivatives desk On Nifty open interest in Nifty futures has Gained 1%, while Bank Nifty future has Shed 5%. Implied Vol at 15%, Historical Vol at 18%, correcting steadily From Options data highest cumulative OI is seen at 8000 PE (with 6.25 Mn) and 8400 CE (4.33 Mn). Whereas on Puts front observed at 8100(491K). Call addition observed at 8600 (530K). PCR-OI at 1.05, inching upward

The outlook is a positive start. Asian equities tracked the U.S. rebound, rallying as the S&P 500 Index's climb to a seven-month high bolstered optimism ahead of jobs data that's likely to color speculation around Federal Reserve policy. Gold extended its slump.

Investors are paying close attention to U.S. data after Fed officials indicated a potential interest-rate hike as soon as this summer was contingent on continued improvement in the economy.

All in all to cut the Long story short whether its India or other parts of the World Traders have entered June on a tentative footing, with the month playing host to a number of key events that may determine the outlook for financial markets for the rest of the year.
