MARKET OVERVIEW

Pre Open Thoughts: Adjustments and readjustments in the market!

Life is the continuous adjustment of internal relations to external relations. Though the equity markets are breathing easy globally market participants are trying to adjust to the ever changing situations.

There could be some gyrations given the Futures expiry next week on Thursday which is just after the long weekend, traders will adjust their roll over positions in the futures & options (F&O) segment from the near month March to April.

Going forward situation in markets remains quiet tricky as violation of 7650 could trigger sharp sell-off in the market. The indices will look at taking support around 7650 levels ahead of a Holi-day tomorrow and Day after on account of Good Friday.

The outlook is a flat to negative start indices, but one needs to take comfort that upbeat sentiment continues to reign supreme on the Indian bourses and investors will hope to build on to Tuesday's momentum.

On global front this morning Asian shares fell as oil slipping back toward $41 a barrel weighed on mining and industrial companies and as investors digested the deadly terror attacks in Brussels. The dollar retreated against some major peers following a three-day rally.
